GOV. HOCH

Sends Letter of Regret to Independent Voters' League.

Governor Hoch, of Kansas, who was invited to speak in the interests of the Independent Voters' league of this city during the present municipal campaign has sent the following letter to President Braucher:

Topeka, Kansas, September 24, 1907.
Milton J. Braucher, 38 Folwell Block, Canton, Ohio.
My Dear Sir:—I have your letter inviting me to participate in your campaign for municipal reform which is to culminate November 5th. I am overwhelmed with things to do including a number of business engagements this fall and winter with the Redpath people of Chicago, and fear it will be impossible for me to visit Canton before the election.

It seems incredible to me in the great intelligent state of Ohio, in the beautiful city of Canton, there should be any question as to the wisdom of closing the saloons on Sunday and driving gamblers from the city. When such things are necessary it looks as if our civilization is not much beyond the barbaric period. There is not a single legitimate reason for the existence of a saloon any day of the week, but if there were there can be no reason why these dens of vice should not be compelled to close on the Sabbath day.

I send you greeting from a state where for a quarter of a century the saloon has been an outlaw every day in the week, and where at the time in one hundred out of one hundred and five counties in the state the law is as well enforced as any other penal statute, all representations and statements to the contrary notwithstanding. And in the remaining five counties it is getting mighty warm for violators of the law. And what has been the result of this policy? I believe there are not 1,000,000 people anywhere on earth freer from the curse of liquor than the people of this state and no people relatively more prosperous. Our banks are overflowing with money averaging over $200 per capita. A poor house is a joke in this state. We have a quarter of a million young people over twenty-one years of age who have never seen a saloon or a joint. We are rearing a new civilization here and to a Kansas man familiar with these good things it seems incredible I repeat that you must fight for a little crumb like Sunday closing in Canton.

My wife is an Ohio girl and it may mean in me but I cannot help occasionally joining in about my native state of Kentucky, known as the Bourbon State, having its prohibition counties out of 112 counties in that state, while poor old Ohio with its boasted intelligence is so greatly cursed with the saloon. But here is hoping that the Buckeye State will soon get its eyes opened to the iniquity of this infamous traffic.

Cordially Yours,
K. M. HOCH.

50 YEARS OF FARM PROGRESS

Miscellaneous Vegetables Unknown Half a Century Ago.

The farm gardens, market gardens and truck gardens of to-day are the producers of a multitude of miscellaneous vegetables almost unknown fifty years ago, says Harper's Weekly. In the census of 1890 the large increase in garden products was recognized, and a systematic count of their bulk and value was made. It is possible, therefore, to make a ten-year comparison of the increase of such products, and this records the remarkable increase of from 100 per cent. to 400 per cent. in the five several divisions of the country.

Could our great-granddaddies, who thought tomatoes poisonous, and our great-grandmothers, who grew them as ornamental plants in window pots, under the attractive name of "love apples," come back and realize that over thirty million bushels of the pretty poisonous vegetables are eaten as a common and healthful food they would surely realize that time works wonderful changes. Another interesting statement is that the lettuce crop of the South has so increased that in the spring of this year North Carolina sent twenty carloads of that vegetable north in a single day.

Thirty-five years ago celery was a rarity, even on hotel tables, and was used by few families, even of wealth. To-day it is a common edible, occupying thousands of acres in Michigan, Ohio and New York. One firm has celery farms in Michigan, Florida and California, and because of the variety of seasons it is engaged in shipping celery by the carload the whole year round.

A Zakopane House.

A Zakopane house is a very carefully finished wooden structure, built of tight-fitting, heavy logs of spruce, which become reddish brown with age, and are surmounted by a very steep, high shingle roof which gives a good protection against the heavy falls of snow and rain, and with its triangular gables of acute angles harmonizes well with the Tatra peaks and the tall spruce trees. The frame of the door is built of very heavy blocks of wood, surmounted by a semicircular arch, joined together by two anchor-shaped pieces, and held in place by rows of elaborately carved wooden pegs. The big rafters of the ceiling are embellished with carved ornaments of a very unique conception. The circular hole above the door, the heart-shaped pa-sonita, and the swastika, with sharp points, are some of the main motives of this odd ornamentation with which the goorals in a very judicious way adorn their ash-wood furniture, wooden vessels, and instruments. It is wonderful how in the center of old Europe they have remained unaffected by the levelling force of modern civilization, and have developed a style absolutely unlike anything even the nearer parts of Poland or in neighboring Hungary.—Century.

prison with guards changed hourly for the purpose of preventing him from sleeping. After the commencement of the eighth day his suffering was so intense that he implored the authorities to strangle, guillotine, burn him, drown him, garrote, shoot, quarter, blow up with gunpowder, or put him to death in any conceivable way.

Natural sleep has been defined as mental rest produced by an appetite resulting from fatigue. But the idea that mental rest means mental inaction is hardly feasible, inasmuch as it quite frequently happens that the solution of unsolved problems is the first thing to appear in the consciousness on awakening, and thus the mind must have been operative while asleep.—Harper's Weekly.

Food Poisons

80 Per Cent of All Diseases the Result of Undigested Putrefying Foods.

Men of affairs, women of society and children with active brains are too often sedentary in their habits, giving little time to exercise. To this evil is added that of high and irregular living—as a result the stomach cannot stand the demands made upon it. The abused and overtaxed stomach does not properly do the work of digestion, food taken in ferments and the poison permeates the whole system. The body loses in weight and becomes a prey for the attack of whatever disease it may encounter.

Did it ever occur to you how busy that stomach of yours is? It only holds three pints, but in one year you force it to take 2,400 pounds of material, digest it and prepare it for assimilation into the blood. No wonder it rebels when overworked. We crowd it with steaks and pastry, irritate its juices with spices and acids, and expect the stomach to do its work. It can't do it.

All over the inner layer of the stomach are glands which secrete the juices necessary to digestion. The entrance of food into the stomach is the signal for these glands to do their work. The more the food, and the more indigestible, the greater the demand upon them and upon the muscles of the wall adjoining.

Think of the tons of high-seasoned game, sweetmeats and appetizers swarmed into this little four-ounce mill, and then wonder, if you will, why you are dizzy or nauseated or constipated. Don't blame your stomach or curse your fate that you should be born so unfortunate. Blame yourself and apply the remedy.

First, get a small package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, taking one after each meal and at bed time. They are not a medicine, but a digestive. Your stomach is worn out and needs help, not medicine. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will do the work that the stomach fails to do. There's enough power in one grain of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets to digest 3,000 grains of ordinary food, so you needn't fear that anything you eat will remain in your stomach undigested.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will rout the poison because they remove the cause—food fermentation. They are nature's own cure for dyspepsia. The host of troubles dyspepsia is father of cannot be numbered, for a healthy stomach is the source of all health.

Seize your opportunity before worse conditions confront you. Send today for a free trial package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. They will bring your stomach relief. F. A. Stuart Co., 180 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.
